Headline:
Cloudy with heavy rain and risk of thunderstorms.

Today:
A mostly cloudy day with pockets of heavy, showery rain, with localised thunderstorms possible, throughout the country. This rain likely to pick up in the afternoon, becoming downpours in some places. Cooler than Wednesday but likely still warm and humid. Maximum temperature 22 deg C (72 deg F).

Tonight:
Showers, scattered through the country but widespread in the west, throughout the night. Often light but locally heavy, with risk of thunderstorms in the evening and early night. Minimum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Friday:
Unsettled and generally rather cloudy. Scattered showers, locally heavy, easing towards the end of the day. Extended sunny spells may allow heavy showers to develop locally, with risk of thunderstorms. Maximum temperature 23 deg C (73 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Variable cloud throughout the weekend and Monday, with occasional light showers possible. A chance of heavier rain and thunderstorms developing late Monday in the south and west.
